

Three years ago Elizabeth Farms decided to transform a portion of the densely wooded, swampy landscape on the 350 acre property and make use of it. What was once an uninhabitable forest with a stream running through it is now the home of over 250 Mangalitsa pigs. Over 9 miles of fencing and a custom built pig maternity ward create the perfect setting for the unique and once endangered Mangalitsa pig. The Mangalitsa pork is commonly known as the “Kobe beef of pork” and has a very unique and flavorful taste. The pork we raise is free of added growth hormones, chemical and preservatives which adds to the magnificent flavor profile. We offer many different cuts of meat including pork chops, boston butts, bacon, sausage patties, breakfast sausages and much more. Additionally we wholesale to many local restaurants in the Philly, NJ, and New York area.

The farm to table operation at The Barns at Elizabeth Farms features a laid back picnic environment for friends and family to gather with each other play games, eat great food and drink local PA libations. This operation partners with local farmers to provide fresh, seasonal ingredients paired with our very own mangalitsa pork. Serving pork burgers, pork chops, pork rinds and more!
