

Introducing . . . Allen Foster Hermansader

Born in Berks County in 1929, Allen Foster Hermansader has been painting for some forty years. He was recently called, "Lehigh Valley's Michaelangelo." Some say that Mr. Hermansader is a gifted artist. Others contend he is a skilled craftsman who works with the techniques of the old masters. A study of his work proves he is all that and more.

But before he even picks up the paint brush, Mr. Hermansader does what he considers to be the most important beginning of any art work he attempts. "I call on the living God to inspire me. I ask God to guide me in my work so that it might move others to become closer to the Lord," says the soft-spoken artist. Indeed, this is a man filled with reverence for God and an appreciation for life that influences his creations of art.

One of his favorite paintings, "I AM THE WAY," is an interpretation of the Master which is so remarkably done that it seems to speak to people who view it. We are pleased to announce that this original oil painting has been reproduced in lithographic form. These richly colored prints are a reproduction of one of the most compelling Christian paintings of modern times. One thousand numbered and hand-signed prints are currently available in a special limited collection. We invite you to consider adding this fine work of art to your collection in office or home.
